meme's. The theme/design is dark, with neon colors that highlight text, image, etc. It should not be juxtaposed in the app, but under each other. Room for advertising revenue here - suggestions are needed.

Everyone should be able to see this. Here are friends' posts to OTHER some - not FROM other some platforms

Here you should be able to explore trends, hashtags, people, web shops for friends/influencers, things that are trending on other some, etc - if possible
The groups with the most life in them, based on your hashtags, etc.

Advertising opportunities must also be included here for advertisers etc.
Here, it may also be possible for influencers to 'pay' their way through 'discover', where you can segment, for example, influencers based on theme (lifestyle, makeup, training, etc.) companies based on their own interests, interest groups, etc.

Perhaps the most important feature of the app is the publishing calendar. Although it's really a next step in the app, I think this is what carries the app up and forward, to companies and the influencer market, that you get the opportunity to publish across platforms. I think this needs to be finished and that it can be tested by a selection of people on the MVP base.

Planning for publishing. Here it should be possible to upload all possible attachments, share across platforms - but such as X has a limited number of words etc - which must be taken into account.
There may also be an opportunity for AI-generated text based on keywords/short sentences etc.
Also the possibility of AI generating images, editing widow images you upload with AI (?) if possible, etc.

All networks, contacts, etc. should state which social platforms they are on, and you can easily find these on the other linked platforms. Must of course consider if someone wants to have certain platforms visible only to certain selected ones, such as perhaps someone wants insta only visible to their category of friends, and not professional network, which you may have linked to via linkedin, etc. Open to all input here!

The idea here is that you should be able to see what friends and contacts have posted, their networks, influencers they follow, websites they like, companies they follow, as well as their entire network, etc. If you have your own websites (companies and influencers, for example), they should also be visible here.
